

Bill,
 It was good to hear that everything is going great for you! I know it was in the 'past' but I want to say sorry for what I put you through. No one deserves something like that. I didn't treat you with respect... for a beautiful season like I should. I understand if you never want to talk to me again, but honest I'm learning how to treat people better and not focus on myself all the time. So anyway, could we clear the past and start over just as friends? May God bless you abundantly! Merry Christmas! - Dee
